“HACK”-3

The Plaintiff did not realize a manner for allowing directories to be browsed online and this was an earlier attempt to illustrate the fact that there was no truth to defendants prior claim that there was no way to determine and document results from mysterious searches performed at any time by searches of Google Inc database. Searches for images on Google's database give constant repeatable results from any location until the database is changed or the mysterious search algorithm is tweaked or "hacked" by Google Inc personnel like is sought ordered in this lawsuit. The Perl 5 or PHP software that accomplishes this takes less than 80 lines of code the Plaintiff can supply if needed.

EXHIBIT HACK-3 EXPLANATION

This exhibit is a screen shot of the folder listings that can be shown to a jury prior to deliberating but that are often obscene or indecent and would cost many thousands to produce in print.
