

Exhibit

,HACK,-2

The anti-google images were marked as inappropriate for minors for the purposes of demonstration and these anti-google images are still seen in pages (1, 2, 4)) in safe and unsafe Google “porn-engine” searches despite not appearing except asw filtered placeholders if visiting curtisneely.eviantart.com/exhibit seen printed including the ad included on pages (5-8). This “hack” by the Plaintiff was to demonstrate the manner of Google Inc causing violations of 47 USC §231 though this Statute was ruled too vague to enforce. Obedience of the intentions of 47 USC §231 was sought by the Plaintiff and this moral drive for Congress to advise United States citizens and US Courts that simultaneous wire and radio communications have never been a new medium where all responsibility for communications should be waived.

The near-universal moral drive to require responsibility for distant communications is mistakenly preempted by United States Courts due to unconstitutional 47 USC §230 and unconstitutionally vague 17 USC §107.

The United States' improper “rite” called copy[rite] but spelled [sic] “copyright” to cause US authors to feel given the exclusive ability to control original visual art the rest of the world allows. This HOAX of US law is the only reason Google Inc exists. This District Court utterly invalidated all uses of 17 USC § 106A to protect author's rights allegedly honored by the United States professing to become a Berne Compact signatory despite flouting proud noncompliance.

The politically sensitive images depicting the “new” FCC logo used as an umbrella protecting a family from the rein of porn made pervasive in the United States by Google Inc and Microsoft Corporation porn-engines was created to help a jury of common citizens to understand the unsafe nature of the malfeasance allowed for the current FCC.

A screenshot of the deviantART Adobe Reader interface. The top status bar shows the case number "Case 5:12-cv-05208-JLH Document 27-2 Filed 12/17/12 Page 11 of 11 PageID #: 193". The left sidebar contains a menu with File, Edit, View, Window, Help, and various icons for file operations like Open, Save, Print, and Copy/Paste. Below the menu is a search bar with the placeholder "Search DeviantArt". The main content area displays a grid of five images, each with a title, a "Comments" link, and a "Report" icon. The images are: 1. "Some Rain Gets Through" by momvisits, showing a close-up of raindrops on a window pane. 2. "Cindy Outhouse" by momvisits, showing a white outhouse with a blue door. 3. "Winslow Cabin Window" by momvisits, showing a window with a wooden frame and a small hanging ornament. 4. "Koyle Cemetery Outhouse 5a" by momvisits, showing a dark wooden outhouse. 5. "Orchard fence 61" by momvisits, showing a close-up of a weathered wooden fence. At the bottom right, there's a "Comments" section with a "Add a Comment" button and a speech bubble icon.
