

Exhibit M7-E

This exhibit is obscene and impermissible to associate with Plaintiff's name in schools and churches or in searches by minors or with any other name. The Supreme Court in ACLU v Reno suggested tagging of such images but was ignored . There is NO USAGE OF "CURTIS NEELEY" is on the "WEB" presentation cited as the absurd and unconstitutional 47 USC §230 liability preempting source. As is included with a white background to save ink costs.

The absurd, and unconstitutional 47 USC §230 liability preempting source page has no usage of Plaintiff's name at all. This fact indicates the fact that the assertion by MSFT of not finding a "mere possibility of misconduct" is absurd and is offensive after made aware of the possibility of this wrong. Failing to act after asked to act and halt the improper association would be MUCH more than a "mere possibility of misconduct" and is flat WRONG! The empty search results for the same query at Defendant Google Inc's WEB interface is included to further illustrate this "possibility of misconduct". This type failure to act are the "fighting words" needed to justify an assault. This is not the "wild west" but the Rule of Law is now hoped to still result in better justice.
