

Exhibit CNN

This exhibit displays forty-seven indecent images remaining associated with Plaintiff's name as shown in schools, churches or in ANY searches by minors using the "moderate safe search" setting. The Supreme Court in ACLU v Reno suggested tagging of such images but was ignored . There is ABSOLUTELY NO USAGE OF "curtis neeley" in presentations cited as the absurd and unconstitutional 47 USC §230 liability preempting source.

The absurd, unconstitutional 47 USC §230 liability preempting source location is displayed without background colors to save ink costs but has no "curtis neeley" at all. This clearly reflects Google Inc failing to act after asked to act and halt this improper association and would be MUCH more than a "mere possibility of misconduct" and is flat WRONG.

47 X $150,000 is $7,050,000 and will now be sought.

Scott Areman Gallery

Scott Areman fuses the beauty and sexuality of the human form with the subtle lighting and color of Fine Art Erotica Photography. An accomplished professional with an international clientele, his work has been shown in galleries from New York to Seattle, and published worldwide.

Miguel V. Arana Gallery

I love photographing women. I ask friends, family, people I meet in restaurants, in bars, pubs, anywhere. It's only a matter of matching the face and/or figure to the "image on your head".

Kim Nicksen Gallery No. 2

The model I use is mostly my beautiful wife, who willingly poses, whenever an idea pops up in my head. On the odd occasions, I appear together with my wife on photographs, taken by other photographers.

Manuel Laval Gallery

There is a gap in our culture, a blind spot on the map of our relationships. With my photography, I attempt to bridge this cultural gap. My pictures invite viewers to experience voyeurism as both pleasant and positive.
